

Y. Rozen

State Scientific-Technical Center for Nuclear and Radiation Safety

Setting of Norms and Estimation of Anti-Jamming of Program-Technical Complexes and Their Components

The second of the series articles, dedicated to issues of the electromagnetic computability of the components of instrumentation and control (I&C) systems, important for the NPPsafety. The methods of tests the noise immunity are examined, which are established in the international, European and national standards of the Ukraine and Russia.