

S. Shirokov, M. Mazinov

National Technical University of Ukraine “Kyiv Politechnic Institute”, Kyiv, Ukraine

Electrochemical Decontamination of Steam Generators

An effective method for decontamination of NPP steam generator components (namely, the primary circuit coolant inlet and outlet headers) is considered in this paper. The essence, decontamination solutions and technical features of the process are described.

Keywords: electrochemical decontamination, decontamination factor, electrochemical lighting, electrolyte.